HON. JOHN E. WEBSTER FOR ASSESSOR

JOHN E. WEBSTER

Carefully consider your candidate. You want to cast your vote for a man who can win after the nomination. Mr. Webster has proven himself more than worthy of public confidence. That he can be trusted with the people's interests was fully demonstrated when he was a member of the forty-fifth general assembly, 1911-12.

The taxpayers will remember that it was mainly through his efforts that the bill creating a third division of the circuit courts for Buchanan county was defeated when it came to the lower house, after having passed favorably out of the senate. In this alone he saved the taxpayers of Buchanan county an approximate annual expense of thirty thousand dollars, which it would have required to have maintained another division of the circuit court.

Mr. Webster is a man of clean habits, keen business qualifications and possesses the executive ability to properly fulfill every duty incumbent upon him if elected. He is one of those sterling Democrats that is never found wanting when needed. He is a man of fine social qualities, a pleasing conversationalist, whom to meet is to like, and you may rest assured that if nominated and elected, you will always find him properly supervising the duties of his office in a courteous, careful, painstaking manner, with a pleasant greeting to each and all alike, and that you will have no reason to regret having given him your support.

NEWS FROM ALL OVER IMPERIAL MISSOURI

Interesting Happenings Which Have Taken Place in the Greatest State in the Union.
The Product of the Scissors, the Pen and a Little Actual Labor

A Fayette man tells a chicken story in such a realistic way that he makes his hearers cackle.

In time of peace prepare for war. A Shelby county man has seven acres planted to navy beans.

In recognition of forty years spent in its service, Fred Watkins of Martinsburg has received from the Washash a life pass for himself and wife.

Superstition has no place in the sessions of the Linn county court. That body has just let contracts for thirteen new bridges.

A Maryville woman is credited with the record drove of young turkeys for Nodaway county. She is able to count 360 fowls at feeding time.

Fought, arrested and fined all within the space of ten minutes is a Maryville record for the administration of justice. Both parties to the combat pleaded guilty.

"Whew! It's hot as shell fire," remarked a Springfield man Monday, as he bravely mopped the perspiration from his brow and refrained from the use of profane language.

Eight dollars and eighty-four cents in stamps was on a package F. E. Cornelius of Maysville mailed the other day to his son, who is in Alaska. The package contained a set of harness.

A second albino squirrel has been caught in Clinton county. The squirrels are young and both males. They are perfect albino type, having white coats and pink eyes.

Fate certainly is a fiddler. At a recent distribution of prizes by lot a Booneville woman drew a ticket entitling her to four free baths at a local barber shop and a barefooted boy drew a bottle of shoe polish.

It's a queer world, that's all there is to it. The Carthage Press notes that Springfield's city council has passed an ordinance to protect girls from flirtatious men while the matron at the St. Louis union station is warning men there to beware of the flirting girls.

A free hair cut for a hog was one of the freaks of a recent windstorm as reported to the Nevada Mail, which saw the animal wandered into the path of the twister and was almost denuded. "The animal was unharmed, but presents a very ludicrous appearance," says the Mail.

Seventy years old, George D. Jones of Laclede county never had been on a train until Friday of last week, when after an overland trip to Lebanon he journeyed by rail to Springfield to visit a brother. To add to the novelty of a day fraught with new experiences Mr. Jones also took a ride on a street car, which was the first he ever had seen.

Six thousand pounds of honey is the estimated crop Mrs. Jake Addison of Mercer county will harvest this season from her sixty-four stands of bees. The season has been an exceptionally good one for honey on account of the profusion of white clover blossoms. Mrs. Addison about twenty-five years ago traded a pig for a stand of bees and now has sixty-four stands.

A novel plan was employed at Steelville in selling tickets for the local chautauqua. Without warning one afternoon all the church bells in town were rung, a mill whistle tooted and the town band began to play. When folks hurried to learn the cause of the disturbance they were reminded that the chautauqua committee still had some tickets on hand. Every time ten tickets were sold the mill whistle gave an extra toot and before night ticket sales were enough to assure the success of the enterprise.

Worthy of having his name written with that of the chap who in winter puts ashes on the coasting hill is the person who transformed the old swimming hole in Three-Mile Creek at Cape Girardeau into a bed of thorns. For some time past protests have been heard about the brevity of bathing suits worn by frequenters of the beach on Three-Mile, but bathers were not at all prepared for the boughs of thorn trees which someone hid beneath the waters, and as a result several swimmers were scratched up like a dry tick in the Lexington local option election.

A firm of horse buyers, says the Warrensburg Star-Journal, has shipped from Johnson, Lafayette, Henry and Pettis counties for the warring nations since September, 1914, about five thousand head of horses and but he recently resigned his position with that paper.—De Kalb Herald.

The Republican party of this state is getting ready to ask the people of Missouri to turn the state government over to one John Swanger. Why? Simply because Swanger has promised Shupp and Jones that he would sign a bill providing for prohibition without giving the people a chance to vote on it, while at the same time, he has promised Tub Bekker, Hank Weeke, Nat Goldstein and other St. Louis brewery politicians that he is against prohibition.—Excelsior Springs Standard.

VICTOR H. EMERSON

And His Remarkable Record

Have you heard or seen those cute little phonograph records, which are on display at the 5 and 10-cent stores, also in phonograph, music and novelty shops? They are called the "Emerson" disc records, and are made in two sizes, six-inch single and seven-inch double. You can play them on any make of disc phonograph without an attachment, as they are made with a new cut called the "Universal," invented by Mr. Victor H. Emerson.

For the benefit of our readers, we might add that the popular and standard successes of the day can be found on the Emerson records, including: "Evelyn" (from "Pom-Pom"), "Shades of Night" (song), "Are You from Dixie" (song), "Wake Up, America" (song), "I Love You, That's One Thing I Know" (ballad), "Old Folks Rag" (one step), "Ida Fox Trot," "Turkey in the Straw," "My Own Iona," "Perfect Day," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Under the Rambling Roses," etc.

Mr. Victor H. Emerson, whose photograph appears above, is the acknowledged authority on sound reproduction, and is credited with many of the new devices and improvements that have been made in the phonograph industry in the past twenty-seven years, the last seventeen of which he was in charge of the recording department of the Columbia Phonograph company.

Mr. Emerson is now at the head of The Emerson Phonograph company, at 3 West Thirty-fifth street, New York City, which, in addition to manufacturing the little discs above referred to, will place on the market many novelties, including an electrolier-phonograph which will be a veritable sensation to the phonograph world. Many other new inventions are under way, and will be announced as soon as Mr. Emerson gives us permission to do so.
